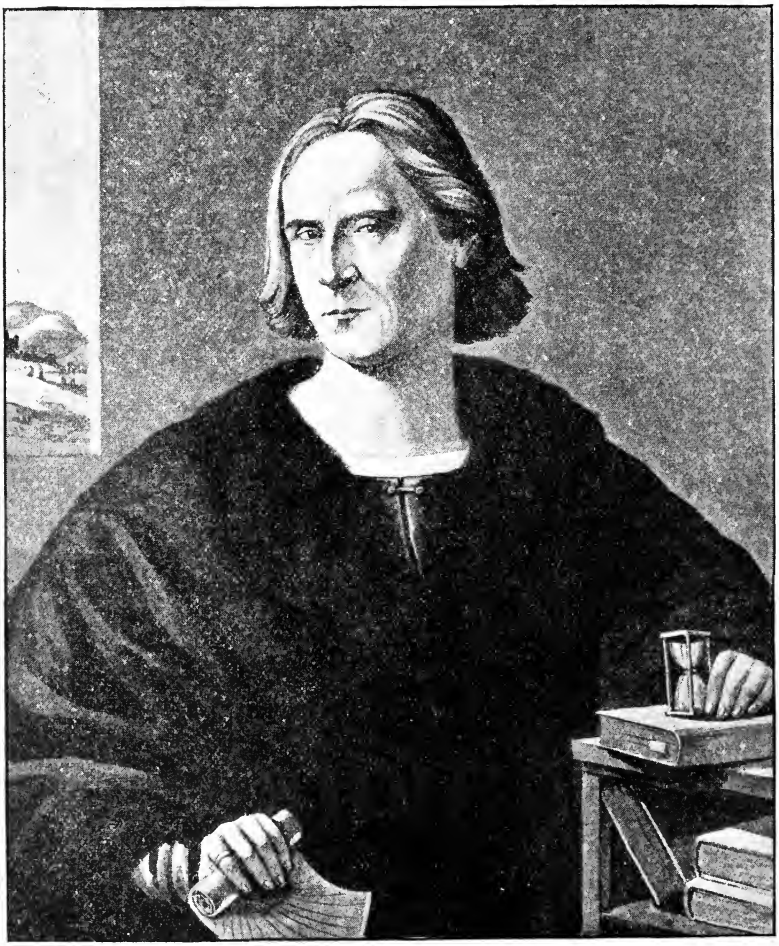
The Record Publishing Company



COLUMBUS—FROM THE LOTTO PORTRAIT.

The Philadelphia Record

DAILY CIRCULATION, OVER 160,000.

THE special field of a daily newspaper is the area within which it may be distributed to readers on the day of its publication. No journal in Pennsylvania, and but one in the country, is so largely sold as THE RECORD to the millions to whom it may thus be freshly delivered.

Because it prints the news every day in such compass that the busiest man may grasp it, and because it has settled and serious convictions, and the courage to express and defend them, THE RECORD has every year of its publication added to the number of its friends and patrons. It keeps up with the pace of the times. To its readers it gives a fourfold measure of return for their outlay; to advertisers it offers tenfold the average publicity they can elsewhere obtain for the same money.

THE RECORD has no competitors. They have all been distanced. It is published every day, and sent, postage free, to any part of the United States for Four Dollars per year, payable in advance. Exclusive of the Sunday issue the price is Three Dollars per year, or twenty-five cents per month.

To subscribers in Philadelphia or its suburbs THE RECORD is delivered at eight cents per week; or without the Sunday paper at six cents per week, payable to the carrier.

The Saturday issue or the Sunday issue will be sent by mail, separately, to subscribers for One Dollar per year, free of postage.

Its great circulation in Philadelphia and vicinity makes it a most valuable means of reaching the people of all neighboring towns and counties in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. It also circulates in every State and Territory of the Union. It is the best advertising medium of any publication in Pennsylvania.

JUMBO, THE LARGEST STEER IN THE WORLD.

The World's Columbian Exposition.

A MEMORIAL OF THE FOUR-HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE DISCOVERY OF AMERICA.

The most notable event of the year 1892 was the celebration of the four-hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus—first at New York City on the 11th and 12th of October, respectively, by a grand naval parade and by a brilliant parade and review of regulars and militiamen from several States, besides various civic organizations; and, second, at Chicago by a civic parade on the 20th of October, and by the dedication on October 21 of the buildings which had been erected for the World's Columbian Exposition, to be opened in May, 1893. At both these celebrations—New York and Chicago—Vice-President Morton (President Harrison being detained at the bedside of his dying wife) and members of the Cabinet, the Diplomatic Corps, and many other distinguished persons attended. The 21st of October was recognized throughout the country as "Columbus Day," and was so celebrated in every hamlet of the land, a peculiar feature of the observance being patriotic exercises by the school children, public and parochial, wherever there was an American schoolhouse.

THE WORLD'S FAIR BUILDINGS.

The dedication services at Chicago were held in the building designed for a display of Manufactures and the Liberal Arts, and which is said to be the largest building ever erected. It covers over 30 acres, and has in floor space, including galleries, an area of 43 acres. It is over a quarter of a mile in length, cost $1,700,000, and contains 16,000,000 feet of lumber and 15,000,000 pounds of iron. Under the single roof-span of the building just over the main hall is inclosed over 11 acres, an area entirely free from supporting pillars or posts.

THE ELECTRICITY BUILDING.

In the Electricity Building is to be exhibited the crowning glory of the nineteenth century. This is the first time in a great Exposition that Electricity has been named as one of the important departments of industry. This building has been erected at a cost of $650.000, and is over 750 feet long and 350 feet wide.

THE ART BUILDING.

The most substantial building of the World's Fair, and the one likely to remain a permanent structure in Jackson Park, is the Art Building. It is the only fire-proof building on the grounds. Of a Grecian-Ionic style, this building has been constructed at an expense of $670,000. It is 500 feet long and 320 feet wide, and has two annexes, each of which is 200 by 120 feet. The floor space of the main building and annexes is 6½ acres.

MACHINERY HALL.

Machinery Hall is over 800 feet long and 500 feet wide, with an annex of 550 feet in length and 490 feet in width, cost $1,200,000, and has a floor space of over 17 acres.

THE TRANSPORTATION BUILDING.

An era in the age of invention is marked by this being the first time in the history of World's Fairs that an entire building is devoted to the science of Transportation. The main building is 960 feet long and 250 feet wide, and the annex, still larger, being 900 feet by 425 feet. The total floor space of the main building and annex is 13½ acres, and the total cost $370,000. In the centre of the main building a cupola, 165 feet high and provided with eight elevators, gives visitors an opportunity to obtain an excellent view of the entire Exposition from this eminence. The annex to this building is only one story high, but it covers over 9 acres. Its great length, 900 feet, is for the purpose of exhibiting entire passenger and freight trains of all countries, coupled and ready for moving.

THE AGRICULTURAL BUILDING.

The Agricultural Building is an attractive structure 800 feet long and 500 feet wide, and has a floor space of nearly 19 acres. It stands quite near the lake shore, and in form resembles the letter T, one portion being 500 feet long and the other portion 200 feet. The building cost $618,000.

THE HORTICULTURAL BUILDING.

The Horticultural Building is 1000 feet long and 286 feet wide, cost about $400,000, and its entire floor space is over 6½ acres. In a carefully constructed cave, 60 feet high and 80 feet in diameter, entirely obscured from day, dazzling electric lights are placed, and during the six months the problem of whether plants will grow and flourish under electric light alone will be fully solved.

THE FORESTRY BUILDING.

The most novel of all the World's Fair buildings in its construction and design is the Forestry Building. It is almost incredible to conceive that a building 500 feet long and 200 feet wide can be built without a nail or an ounce of metal in its construction, yet this feat has been accomplished in the Forestry Building. This is a structure, too, which is one of the strongest on the ground, and its location on the very verge of the water makes it necessary for it to withstand the strength of the fierce lake winds that prevail all the winter. The rustic is naturally the idea which has been uppermost at all times in the construction of the Forestry Building, and the effect accomplished is one certainly difficult to surpass. Every State and Territory in the Union, and even far-off Alaska, has contributed to the material in this structure, and the foreign nations of the world from the mahogany forests of tropical Brazil to the fir trees of the Alps and the stunted bushes of the Arctics, have each a memento entering into the construction or rustic ornamentation of this building.

THE FISHERIES BUILDING.

Erected at a cost of $224,000, this building with its two annexes has a floor space of over three acres. With its annexes it is 1100 feet long and 200 feet wide, and is situated on the east side of the large island in the extreme north of the lagoon.

THE WOMAN'S BUILDING.

The architecture and decorations of the Woman's Building have been entirely planned and carried out by women, as the theory is to show their advancement in certain lines of art, and especially in those fields which should belong partly to them. It is 388 feet long, 199 feet wide, and cost $138,000. The architect, Miss Hayden, had just completed her course in Massachusetts School of Technology.

THE MINES AND MINING BUILDING.

This structure is 700 feet long, 350 feet wide, and cost $265,000. It has a floor space of nearly nine acres, and its architecture is of the Italian renaissance with a light French spirit visible in its exterior design.

THE NAVAL EXHIBIT.

Near the northeastern shore of the Park, about 200 feet from land, lies a fac-simile in style and size of one of the largest and most improved battle-ships of modern times. It is 348 feet in length, 69 feet in width amidships, and from the water line to the top of the main deck is 12 feet. Until the visitor is within a few feet of this structure it is impossible for the most discerning eye to detect any difference between it and one of the $3,000,000 coast-line battle-ships now being constructed for the United States Navy. It is erected on piling, but being surrounded by water has the appearance of being moored to the wharf. Every appurtenance and appliance to be found on the most complete man-of-war is visible on this ship. The Navy Department during the Exposition will detail officers, seamen, marines and mechanics to man this vessel, and although an immovable structure she will for that six months be literally "in commission," all the discipline and regulations maintained during war being in practice. In the habiliments of those aboard will be displayed the past costumes of the sailors of the United States Navy from 1775 to 1848. The total cost of this imitation battle-ship is $100,000.

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT BUILDING.

This cost $400,000, and is 415 feet long and 350 feet wide. It is constructed of iron and glass, and a central dome, 120 feet in diameter and 150 feet high, is its prominent architectural feature.

THE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING.

The Administration Building occupies the most prominent position in the Park and is exactly square, being 262 by 262 feet. Its height is even greater than its rectangular dimensions, being 277½ feet. This building cost $435,000, and in proportion to its size is the most expensive structure of the Exposition.

THE MUSIC HALL AND PERISTYLE AND OTHER BUILDINGS.

At the mouth of the lagoon, and extending north and south, there is a peristyle 60 feet wide and 500 feet long, spanning the entrance to the big lagoons. Beneath this pleasure craft can enter from Lake Michigan and sail throughout the Fair on the waters of the lagoon. The Music Hall, 200 feet long and 140 feet wide, is at the north end of this peristyle, and contains an auditorium capable of seating 2000 people, with room for an orchestra of 75 pieces and a chorus of 300 persons. The great public concerts will be held elsewhere in an amphitheatre ample to accommodate 15,000. The cost of these structures was over $200,000. A pier extending 1000 feet into Lake Michigan, with a tower 250 feet high at its extremity, adds peculiar interest to the whole design.

Among the other World's Fair structures of interest is a reproduction in staff of the Convent of La Rabida. It was at this Convent in Spain that Columbus sought shelter and found a willing listener to his dreams in Father De Marchena, the prior of the institution. The latter finally obtained for Columbus a reception at the Court of Ferdinand and Isabella, and the great western voyage and the discovery of a new world were the results.

THE VARIOUS STATE BUILDINGS.

In addition to the great structures above described, nearly every State in the Union has in course of construction a separate State Building for the exhibition of the characteristic industries and resources of the State.

WORLD'S FAIR COST AND MANAGEMENT.

Before the gates of the World's Columbian Exposition shall have been opened to visitors $18,750,000 will have been expended upon it, independently of the millions expended in the construction of State buildings and the installation of State exhibits.

The cost of this Exposition will be three times as much as any previous Exposition in the history of the world. It occupies about three times as many acres (638), and has about twice as much space under roof as the greatest of former Expositions.

The management of the World's Columbian Exposition may be said to be vested in four organizations: The National Commission, authorized by Congress; the World's Columbian Exposition, organized under the laws of the State of Illinois; the Board of Lady Managers, authorized by Congress; and the World's Congress Auxiliary.

The National Commission is composed of eight commissioners-at-large, with alternates; two commissioners from each State, Territory, and the District of Columbia, one Democrat and one Republican, appointed by the President on the nomination of their respective Governors. This Commission has delegated its authority to eight of its members, who constitute a Board of Reference and Control, and who act with a similar number selected from the World's Columbian Exposition. The officers of this Commission are: President, Thomas W. Palmer; Vice-Presidents, Thomas W. Walker, M. H. De-Young, D. B. Penn, C. W. Allen and Alex. B. Andrews; Secretary, John T. Dickinson.

The World's Columbian Exposition is composed of forty-five citizens of Chicago, elected annually by the stockholders. On this body falls the burden of raising the necessary money and of the active management. Its officers are: President, Harlow N. Higinbotham; Vice-President, F. W. Peck; Second Vice-President, R. A. Waller; Secretary, H. O. Edmonds, and Solicitor, W. K. Carlisle.

The Board of Lady Managers is composed of two members, with alternates, from each State and Territory, and nine from the city of Chicago. It has the supervision of women's participation in the Exposition, and of whatever exhibits of women's work may be made. Mrs. Bertha H. Palmer is President, and Mrs. Susan Gale Cooke, Secretary of the Board of Lady Managers.

The World's Congress Auxiliary was organized for the purpose of holding a series of congresses to supplement the Exposition that will be made of the material progress of the world by a portrayal of the achievements in science, literature, education, government, jurisprudence, morals, charity, art, religion, and other branches of mental activity. Hon. C. C. Bonney, of Chicago, is President of the Congress Auxiliary.

Four Party Platforms.

DECLARATIONS OF PRINCIPLES ADOPTED BY THE REPUBLICAN, DEMOCRATIC, PROHIBITION AND PEOPLE'S NATIONAL CONVENTIONS OF 1892.

There are many self-evident reasons why, at the close of a Presidential contest, the Platforms of the parties should be conveniently presented for reference and comparison. There were several unique features in connection with the Presidential struggle of 1892. It was the first time in many years that four parties occupying such comparative prominence as factors were arrayed in the contest, and the Presidential candidate of every one of them was nominated on the first ballot. It was the first time in the history of the country when two of the candidates were men who had been elected and served as President, so that election this time meant re-election for either.

The Platforms follow in the order in which the National Conventions met:

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

ADOPTED AT MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., JUNE 10, 1892.

The representatives of the Republicans of the United States, assembled in general convention on the shores of the Mississippi River, the everlasting bond of an indestructible republic, whose most glorious chapter of history is the record of the Republican party, congratulate their countrymen on the majestic march of the nation under the banners inscribed with the principles of our platform of 1888, vindicated by victory at the polls and prosperity in our fields, workshops and mines, and make the following Declaration of Principles:

1. We reaffirm the American doctrine of Protection. We call attention to its growth abroad. We maintain that the prosperous condition of our country is largely due to the wise revenue legislation of the Republican Congress.

We believe that all articles which cannot be produced in the United States, except luxuries, should be admitted free of duty, and that on all imports coming into competition with the products of American labor there should be duties levied equal to the difference between wages abroad and at home.

We assert that the prices of manufactured articles of general consumption have been reduced under the operations of the Tariff Act of 1890. We denounce the efforts of the Democratic majority of the House to destroy our tariff laws by piecemeal, as manifested by their attacks on wool, lead and lead ore, and we ask the people for their judgment thereon.

We point to the success of the Republican policy of reciprocity, under which our export trade has vastly increased, and new and enlarged markets have been opened for the products of our farms and workshops. We remind the people of the bitter opposition of the Democratic party to this practical business measure, and claim that, executed by a Republican administration, our present laws will eventually give us control of the trade of the world.

2. The American people, from tradition and interest, favor bimetalism, and the Republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money, with such restrictions and under such provisions, to be determined by legislation, as will secure the maintenance of the parity of values of the two metals, so that the purchasing and debt-paying power of the dollar, whether of silver, gold or paper, shall be at all times equal.

The interests of the producers of the country—its farmers and its workingmen—demand that every dollar, paper or coin, issued by the Government, shall be as good as any other dollar. We commend the wise and patriotic steps already taken by our Government to secure such an international conference to adopt such measures as will insure a parity of value between gold and silver for use as money throughout the world.

3. We demand that every citizen of the United States shall be allowed to cast one free and unrestricted ballot in all public elections, and that such ballot shall be counted and returned as cast; that such laws shall be enacted and enforced as will secure to every citizen, be he rich or poor, native or foreign born, white or black, this sovereign right, guaranteed by the Constitution. The free and honest popular ballot, the just and equal representation of all the people, as well as their just and equal protection under the laws, are the foundation of our Republican institutions, and the party will never relax its efforts until the integrity of the ballot and the purity of elections shall be fully guaranteed and protected in every State.

We denounce the continued inhuman outrages perpetrated on American citizens for political reasons in certain States of the Union.

4. We favor the extension of our foreign commerce, the restoration of our mercantile marine by home-built ships, and the construction of a navy for the protection of our national interests and the honor of our flag; the maintenance of the most friendly relations with foreign powers, entangling alliances with none, and the protection of the rights of our fishermen.

We reaffirm our approval of the Monroe doctrine, and believe in the achievement of the manifest destiny of the republic in its broadest sense. We favor the enactment of more stringent laws and regulations for the restriction of criminal, pauper and contract immigration.

5. We favor efficient legislation by Congress to protect the life and limbs of employes of transportation companies engaged in carrying on interstate commerce, and recommend legislation by the respective States that will protect employes engaged in State commerce, and in mining and manufacturing.

6. The Republican party has always been the champion of the oppressed, and recognizes the dignity of manhood irrespective of faith, color or nationality. It sympathizes with the cause of home rule in Ireland, and protests against the persecution of the Jews in Russia. The ultimate reliance of free popular government is the intelligence of the people and the maintenance of freedom among men.

7. We declare anew our devotion to liberty of thought and conscience, of speech and press, and approve all agencies and instrumentalities which contribute to the education of the children of the land; but, while insisting upon the fullest measure of religious liberty, we are opposed to any union of Church and State.

8. We reaffirm our opposition, declared in the Republican platform of 1888, to all combinations of capital organized to control arbitrarily the condition of trade among our citizens. We heartily indorse the action taken on this issue, and ask for such further legislation as may be required to remedy any defects in existing laws, and to render their enforcement more complete and effective.

9. We approve the policy of extending to towns and rural communities the advantages of the free-delivery service now enjoyed by the larger cities of the country, and reaffirm the declaration contained in the Republican platform of 1888, pledging the reduction of letter postage to one cent at the earliest possible moment.

10. We commend the spirit and evidence of reform in the civil service, and the wise and consistent enforcement by the Republican party of the laws regulating the same.

11. The construction of the Nicaragua Canal is of the highest importance to the American people, both as a measure of national defense and to build up and maintain American commerce, and it should be controlled by the Government of the United States.

12. We favor the admission of the remaining territories at the earliest possible moment, having due regard to the interests of the people of the Territories and of the United States. All the Federal officeholders appointed in the Territories should be selected from the residents thereof, and the right of self-government should be accorded as far as possible.

13. We favor the cession, subject to the homestead laws, of the arid public lands to the States and Territories in which they lie, under such Congressional restrictions as to disposition, reclamation and occupancy by settlers as will secure the maximum benefits to the people.

14. The World's Columbian Exposition is a great national undertaking, and Congress should promptly enact such reasonable legislation in aid thereof as will insure a discharge of the expense and obligations incident thereto, and the attainment of results commensurate with the dignity and progress of the nation.

15. We sympathize with all wise and legitimate efforts to lessen and prevent the evils of intemperance and promote morality.

16. Ever mindful of the service and sacrifices of the men who saved the life of the nation, we pledge anew to the veteran soldiers of the Republic a watchful care and recognition of their just claims upon a grateful people.

17. We commend the able, patriotic and thoroughly American administration of President Harrison. Under it the country has enjoyed remarkable prosperity, and the dignity and honor of the nation at home and abroad have been faithfully maintained, and we offer the record of pledges kept as a guarantee of faithful performance in the future.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

ADOPTED AT CHICAGO, ILL., JUNE 22, 1892.

1. The representatives of the Democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, do reaffirm their allegiance to the principles of the party as formulated by Jefferson and exemplified by the long and illustrious line of his successors in Democratic leadership from Madison to Cleveland; we believe the public welfare demands that these principles be applied to the conduct of the Federal Government through the accession to power of the party that advocates them; and we solemnly declare that the need of a return to these fundamental principles of a free popular government, based on home rule and individual liberty, was never more urgent than now, when the tendency to centralize all power at the Federal Capital has become a menace to the reserved rights of the States that strikes at the very roots of our government under the Constitution as framed by the fathers of the Republic.

2. We warn the people of our common country, jealous for the preservation of their free institutions, that the policy of Federal control of elections, to which the Republican party has committed itself, is fraught with the gravest dangers, scarcely less momentous than would result from a revolution practically establishing monarchy on the ruins of the Republic. It strikes at the North as well as the South, and injures the colored citizens even more than the white; it means a horde of deputy marshals at every polling place armed with Federal power, returning boards appointed and controlled by Federal authority; the outrage of the electoral rights of the people in the several States: the subjugation of the colored people to the control of the party in power and the reviving of race antagonisms now happily abated, of the utmost peril to the safety and happiness of all, a measure deliberately and justly described by a leading Republican Senator as "the most infamous bill that ever crossed the threshold of the Senate." Such a policy, if sanctioned by law, would mean the dominance of a self-perpetuating oligarchy of officeholders, and the party first intrusted with its machinery could be dislodged from power only by an appeal to the reserved right of the people to resist oppression, which is inherent in all self-governing communities. Two years ago this revolutionary policy was emphatically condemned by the people at the polls: but in contempt of that verdict, the Republican party has defiantly declared in its latest authoritative utterance that its success in the coming elections will mean the enactment of the Force bill, and the usurpation of despotic control over the elections in all the States.

Believing that the preservation of republican government in the United States is dependent upon the defeat of this policy of legalized force and fraud, we invite the support of all citizens who desire to see the Constitution maintained in its integrity with the laws pursuant thereto which have given our country a hundred years of unexampled prosperity; and we pledge the Democratic party, if it be intrusted with power, not only to the defeat of the Force bill, but also to relentless opposition to the Republican policy of profligate expenditure, which in the short space of two years has squandered an enormous surplus, emptied an overflowing treasury, after piling new burdens of taxation upon the already overtaxed labor of the country.

3. We denounce Republican protection as a fraud—a robbery of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few. We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal Government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties, except for the purposes of revenue only, and we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of the Government when honestly and economically administered.

We denounce the McKinley tariff law enacted by the Fifty-first Congress as the culminating atrocity of class legislation; we indorse the efforts made by the Democrats of the present Congress to modify its most oppressive features in the direction of free raw materials and cheaper manufactured goods that enter into general consumption, and we promise its repeal as one of the beneficent results that will follow the action of the people in intrusting power to the Democratic party. Since the McKinley tariff went into operation there have been ten reductions of the wages of the laboring man to one increase. We deny that there has been any increase of prosperity to the country since that tariff went into operation, and we point to the dullness and distress, the wage reductions and strikes in the iron trade, as the best possible evidence that no such prosperity has resulted from the McKinley act.

We call the attention of thoughtful Americans to the fact that after thirty years of restrictive taxes against the importation of foreign wealth in exchange for our agricultural surplus, the homes and farms of the country have become burdened with a real estate mortgage debt of over $2,500,000,000, exclusive of all other forms of indebtedness; that in one of the chief agricultural States of the West there appears a real estate mortgage debt averaging $165 per capita of the total population, and that similar conditions and tendencies are shown to exist in other agricultural exporting States. We denounce a policy which fosters no industry so much as it does that of the sheriff.

4. Trade interchange on the basis of reciprocal advantages to the countries participating is a time-honored doctrine of the Democratic faith, but we denounce the sham reciprocity which juggles with the people's desire for enlarged foreign markets and freer exchanges by pretending to establish closer trade relations for a country whose articles of export are almost exclusively agricultural products with other countries that are also agricultural, while erecting a custom-house barrier of prohibitive tariff taxes against the richest countries of the world, that stand ready to take our entire surplus of products and to exchange therefor commodities which are necessaries and comforts of life among our own people.

5. We recognize in the trusts and combinations which are designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint product of capital and labor a natural consequence of the prohibitive taxes which prevent the free competition which is the life of honest trade; but we believe their worst evils can be abated by law, and we demand the rigid enforcement of the laws made to prevent and control them, together with such further legislation in restraint of their abuses as experience may show to be necessary.

6. The Republican party, while professing a policy of reserving the public land for small holdings by actual settlers, has given away the people's heritage, till now a few railroads and non-resident aliens, individual and corporate, possess a larger area than that of all our farms between the two seas. The last Democratic administration reversed the improvident and unwise policy of the Republican party touching the public domain, and reclaimed from corporations and syndicates, alien and domestic, and restored to the people nearly one hundred million acres of valuable land to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens, and we pledge ourselves to continue this policy until every acre of land so unlawfully held shall be reclaimed and restored to the people.

7. We denounce the Republican legislation known as the Sherman act of 1890 as a cowardly makeshift, fraught with possibilities of danger in the future, which should make all of its supporters, as well as its author, anxious for its speedy repeal. We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discriminating against either metal or charge for mintage; but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, or be adjusted through international agreement, or by such safeguards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals, and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts; and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin. We insist upon this policy as especially necessary for the protection of the farmers and laboring classes, the first and most defenseless victims of unstable money and a fluctuating currency.

8. We recommend that the prohibitory ten per cent. tax on State bank issues be repealed.

9. Public office is a public trust. We reaffirm the declaration of the Democratic National Convention of 1876 for the reform of the civil service, and we call for the honest enforcement of all laws regulating the same. The nomination of a President, as in the recent Republican Convention, by delegations composed largely of his appointees, holding office at his pleasure, is a scandalous satire upon free popular institutions and a startling illustration of the methods by which a President may gratify his ambition. We denounce a policy under which federal officeholders usurp control of party conventions in the States, and we pledge the Democratic party to the reform of these and all other abuses which threaten individual liberty and local self-government.

10. The Democratic party is the only party that has ever given the country a foreign policy consistent and vigorous, compelling respect abroad and inspiring confidence at home. While avoiding entangling alliances, it has aimed to cultivate friendly relations with other nations, and especially with our neighbors on the American continent, whose destiny is closely linked with our own, and we view with alarm the tendency to a policy of irritation and bluster which is liable at any time to confront us with the alternative of humiliation or war. We favor the maintenance of a navy strong enough for all purposes of national defense, and to properly maintain the honor and dignity of the country abroad.

11. This country has always been the refuge of the oppressed from every land—exiles for conscience sake—and in the spirit of the founders of our government we condemn the oppression practiced by the Russian Government upon its Lutheran and Jewish subjects; and we call upon our National Government, in the interests of justice and humanity, by all just and proper means to use its prompt and best effort to bring about a cessation of these cruel persecutions in the dominions of the Czar, and to secure to the oppressed equal rights.

We tender our profound and earnest sympathy to those lovers of freedom who are struggling for home rule and the great cause of local self-government in Ireland.

12. We heartily approve all legitimate efforts to prevent the United States from being used as a dumping ground for the known criminals and professional paupers of Europe, and we demand the rigid enforcement of the laws against Chinese immigration or the importation of foreign workmen under contract to degrade American labor and lessen its wages, but we condemn and denounce any and all attempts to restrict the immigration of the industrious and worthy of foreign lands.

13. This convention hereby renews the expression of appreciation of the patriotism of the soldiers and sailors of the Union in the war for its preservation, and we favor just and liberal pensions for all disabled Union soldiers, their widows and dependents, but we demand that the work of the Pension Office shall be done industriously, impartially, and honestly. We denounce the present administration of that office as incompetent, corrupt, disgraceful, and dishonest.

14. The Federal Government should care for and improve the Mississippi River and other great waterways of the Republic, so as to secure for the interior States easy and cheap transportation to tidewater; and when any waterway of the Republic is of sufficient importance to demand the aid of the Government, such aid should be extended on a definite plan of continuous work until permanent improvement is secured.

15. For purposes of national defense and the promotion of commerce between the States, we recognize the early construction of the Nicaragua Canal, and its protection against foreign control, as of great importance to the United States.

16. Recognizing the World's Columbian Exposition as a national undertaking of vast importance, in which the General Government has invited the co-operation of all the powers of the world, and appreciating the acceptance by many of such powers of the invitation so extended, and the broad and liberal efforts being made by them to contribute to the grandeur of the undertaking, we are of the opinion that Congress should make such necessary financial provision as shall be requisite to the maintenance of the national honor and public faith.

17. Popular education being the only safe basis of popular suffrage, we recommend to the several States most liberal appropriations for the public schools. Free common schools are the nursery of good government, and they have always received the fostering care of the Democratic party, which favors every means of increasing intelligence. Freedom of education, being an essential of civil and religious liberty, as well as a necessity for the development of intelligence, must not be interfered with under any pretext whatever. We are opposed to State interference with parental rights and rights of conscience in the education of children as an infringement of a fundamental Democratic doctrine that the largest individual liberty consistent with the rights of others insures the highest type of American citizenship and the best government.

18. We approve the action of the present House of Representatives in passing bills for the admission into the Union as States of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona, and we favor the early admission of all the territories having necessary population and resources to admit them to Statehood; and while they remain territories we hold that the officials appointed to administer the government of any territory, together with the Districts of Columbia and Alaska, should be bona-fide residents of the territory or district in which their duties are to be performed. The Democratic party believes in home rule and the control of their own affairs by the people of the vicinage.

19. We favor legislation by Congress and State legislatures to protect the lives and limbs of railway employes and those of other hazardous transportation companies, and denounce the inactivity of the Republican party, and particularly the Republican Senate, for causing the defeat of measures beneficial and protective to this class of wage-workers.

20. We are in favor of the enactment by the States of laws for abolishing the notorious sweating system, for abolishing contract convict labor, and for prohibiting the employment in factories of children under fifteen years of age.

21. We are opposed to all sumptuary laws as an interference with the individual rights of the citizen.

22. Upon this statement of principles and policies the Democratic party asks the intelligent judgment of the American people. It asks a change of administration and a change of party, in order that there may be a change of system and a change of methods, thus assuring the maintenance unimpaired of institutions under which the republic has grown great and powerful.

NATIONAL PLATFORM OF THE PROHIBITION PARTY.

ADOPTED AT CINCINNATI, OHIO, JUNE 30, 1892.

The Prohibition party, in national convention assembled, acknowledging Almighty God as the source of all true government and his law as the standard to which all human enactments must conform to secure the blessings of peace and prosperity, presents the following Declaration of Principles:

1. The liquor traffic is a foe to civilization, the arch enemy of popular government and a public nuisance. It is the citadel of the forces that corrupt politics, promote poverty and crime, degrade the nation's home-life, thwart the will of the people and deliver our country into the hands of rapacious class interests. All laws that under the guise of regulation legalize and protect this traffic, or make the Government share in its ill-gotten gains, are "vicious in principle and powerless as a remedy." We declare anew for the entire suppression of the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation and transportation of alcoholic liquors as a beverage by Federal and State legislation, and the full powers of the Government should be exerted to secure this result. Any party that fails to recognize the dominant nature of this issue in American politics is undeserving of the support of the people.

2. No citizen should be denied the right to vote on account of sex, and equal labor should receive equal wages without regard to sex.

3. The money of the country should consist of gold, silver and paper, and should be issued by the General Government only, and in sufficient quantities to meet the demands of business and give full opportunity for the employment of labor. To this end an increase in the volume of money is demanded, and no individual or corporation should be allowed to make any profit through its issue. It should be made a legal tender for the payment of all debts, public and private. Its volume should be fixed at a definite sum per capita, and made to increase with our increase in population.

4. Tariff should be levied only as a defense against foreign governments which levy tariff upon or bar out our products from their markets, revenue being incidental. The residue of means necessary to an economical administration of the government should be raised by levying a burden on what the people possess instead of what they consume.

5. Railroad, telegraph and other public corporations should be controlled by the Government in the interest of the people, and no higher charges allowed than necessary to give fair interest on the capital actually invested.

6. Foreign immigration has become a burden upon industry, one of the factors in depressing wages and causing discontent; therefore our immigration laws should be revised and strictly enforced. The time of residence for naturalization should be extended, and no naturalized person should be allowed to vote until one year after he becomes a citizen.

7. Non-resident aliens should not be allowed to acquire land in this country, and we favor the limitation of individual and corporate ownership of land. All unearned grants of land to railroad companies or other corporations should be reclaimed.

8. Years of inaction and treachery on the part of the Republican and Democratic parties have resulted in the present reign of mob law, and we demand that every citizen be protected in the right of trial by constitutional tribunals.

9. All men should be protected by law in their right to one day's rest in seven.

10. Arbitration is the wisest and most economical and humane method of settling national differences.

11. Speculation in margins, the cornering of grain, money and products, and the formation of pools, trusts and combinations for the arbitrary advancement of prices should be suppressed.

12. We pledge that the Prohibition party, if elected to power, will ever grant just pensions to disabled veterans of the Union army and navy, their widows and orphans.

13. We stand unequivocally for the American public school, and opposed to any appropriation of public moneys for sectarian schools. We declare that only by united support of such common schools, taught in the English language, can we hope to become and remain a homogeneous and harmonious people.

14. We arraign the Republican and Democratic parties as false to the standards reared by their founders; as faithless to the principles of the illustrious leaders of the past to whom they do homage with the lips; as recreant to the "higher law," which is as inflexible in political affairs as in personal life; and as no longer embodying the aspirations of the American people or inviting the confidence of enlightened progressive patriotism. Their protest against the admission of "moral issues" into politics is a confession of their own moral degeneracy. The declaration of an eminent authority that municipal misrule is "the one conspicuous failure of American politics" follows as a natural consequence of such degeneracy, and is true alike of cities under Republican and Democratic control. Each accuses the other of extravagance in Congressional appropriations, and both are alike guilty; each protests when out of power against the infraction of the civil service laws, and each when in power violates those laws in letter and spirit; each professes fealty to the interests of the toiling masses, but both covertly truckle to the money power in their administration of public affairs. Even the tariff issue, as represented in the Democratic Mills bill and the Republican McKinley bill, is no longer treated by them as an issue upon great and divergent principles of government, but is a mere catering to different sectional and class interests. The attempt in many States to wrest the Australian ballot system from its true purpose, and to so deform it as to render it extremely difficult for new parties to exercise the right of suffrage, is an outrage upon popular government. The competition of both the parties for the vote of the slums, and their assiduous courting of the liquor power and subserviency to the money power, has resulted in placing those powers in the position of practical arbiters of the destinies of the nation. We renew our protests against these perilous tendencies, and invite all citizens to join us in the upbuilding of a party that has shown in five national campaigns that it prefers temporary defeat to an abandonment of the claims of justice, sobriety, personal rights and the protection of American homes.

15. Recognizing and declaring that prohibition of the liquor traffic has become the dominant issue in national politics, we invite to full party fellowship all those who on this one dominant issue are with us agreed, in the full belief that this party can and will remove sectional differences, promote national unity and insure the best welfare of our entire land.

16. Resolved, That we favor a liberal appropriation by the Federal Government for the World's Columbian Exposition, but only on the condition that the sale of intoxicating drinks upon the Exposition grounds is prohibited and that the Exposition be kept closed on Sunday.

NATIONAL PLATFORM OF THE PEOPLE'S PARTY.

ADOPTED AT OMAHA, NEB., JULY 4, 1892.

Assembled upon the one hundred and sixteenth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, the People's party of America, in their first national convention, invoking upon their action the blessing of Almighty God, put forth in the name and on behalf of the people of this country the following Preamble and Declaration of Principles:

The conditions which surround us best justify our co-operation; we meet in the midst of a nation brought to the verge of moral, political and material ruin. Corruption dominates the ballot-box, the Legislatures, the Congress, and touches even the ermine of the bench. The people are demoralized; most of the States have been compelled to isolate the voters at the polling places to prevent universal intimidation and bribery. The newspapers are largely subsidized or muzzled, public opinion silenced, business prostrated, homes covered with mortgages, labor impoverished, and the land concentrating in the hands of capitalists. The urban workmen are denied the right to organize for self-protection, imported pauperized labor beats down their wages, a hireling standing army, unrecognized by our laws, is established to shoot them down, and they are rapidly degenerating into European conditions. The fruits of the toil of millions are bodily stolen to build up colossal fortunes for a few, unprecedented in the history of mankind; and the possessors of those, in turn, despise the Republic and endanger liberty. From the same prolific womb of governmental injustice we breed the two great classes—tramps and millionaires.

The national power to create money is appropriated to enrich bondholders; a vast public debt, payable in legal tender currency, has been funded into gold-bearing bonds, thereby adding millions to the burdens of the people.

Silver, which has been accepted as coin since the dawn of history, has been demonetized to add to the purchasing power of gold by decreasing the value of all forms of property as well as human labor, and the supply of currency is purposely abridged to fatten usurers, bankrupt enterprise and enslave industry. A vast conspiracy against mankind has been organized on two continents, and it is rapidly taking possession of the world. If not met and overthrown at once it forbodes terrible social convulsions, the destruction of civilization or the establishment of an absolute despotism.

We have witnessed for more than a quarter of a century the struggles of the two great political parties for power and plunder, while grievous wrongs have been inflicted upon the suffering people. We charge that the controlling influences dominating both these parties have permitted the existing dreadful conditions to develop without serious effort to prevent or restrain them. Neither do they now promise us any substantial reform. They have agreed together to ignore, in the coming campaign, every issue but one. They propose to drown the outcries of a plundered people with the uproar of a sham battle over the tariff, so that capitalists, corporations, national banks, rings, trusts, watered stock, the demonetization of silver and the oppressions of the usurers may all be lost sight of. They propose to sacrifice our homes, lives and children on the altar of mammon; to destroy the multitude in order to secure corruption funds from the millionaires. Assembled on the anniversary of the birthday of the nation, and filled with the spirit of the grand general and chief who established our independence, we seek to restore the government of the Republic to the hands of "the plain people," with which class it originated. We assert our purposes to be identical with the purposes of the National Constitution; to form a more perfect union and establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty for ourselves and our posterity. We declare that this Republic can only endure as a free government while built upon the love of the whole people for each other and for the nation; that it cannot be pinned together by bayonets; that the civil war is over, and that every passion and resentment which grew out of it must die with it, and that we must be in fact, as we are in name, one united brotherhood of free men.

Our country finds itself confronted by conditions for which there is no precedent in the history of the world; our annual agricultural productions amount to billions of dollars in value, which must, within a few weeks or months, be exchanged for billions of dollars' worth of commodities consumed in their production; the existing currency supply is wholly inadequate to make this exchange; the results are falling prices, the formation of combines and rings, the impoverishment of the producing class. We pledge ourselves that if given power we will labor to correct these evils by wise and reasonable legislation, in accordance with the terms of our platform.

We believe that the power of government—in other words, of the people—should be expanded (as in the case of the postal service) as rapidly and as far as the good sense of an intelligent people and the teachings of experience shall justify, to the end that oppression, injustice and poverty shall eventually cease in the land.

While our sympathies as a party of reform are naturally upon the side of every proposition which will tend to make men intelligent, virtuous and temperate, we nevertheless regard these questions, important as they are, as secondary to the great issues now pressing for solution, and upon which not only our individual prosperity, but the very existence of free institutions depends; and we ask all men to first help us to determine whether we are to have a republic to administer before we differ as to the conditions upon which it is to be administered, believing that the forces of reform this day organized will never cease to move forward until every wrong is remedied and equal rights and equal privileges securely established for all the men and women of this country.

We declare, therefore:

First.—That the union of the labor forces of the United States this day consummated shall be permanent and perpetual; may its spirit enter into all hearts for the salvation of the Republic and theruplifting of mankind.

Second.—Wealth belongs to him who creates it, and every dollar taken from industry without an equivalent is robbery. "If any will not work, neither shall he eat." The interests of rural and civic labor are the same; their enemies are identical.

Third.—We believe that the time has come when the railroad corporations will either own the people or the people must own the railroads; and should the Government enter upon the work of owning and managing all railroads, we should favor an amendment to the Constitution by which all persons engaged in the Government service shall be placed under a civil service regulation of the most rigid character, so as to prevent the increase of the power of the national administration by the use of such additional government employes.

Finance.—We demand a national currency, safe, sound and flexible, issued by the General Government only, a full legal tender for all debts, public and private, and that without the use of banking corporations; a just, equitable and efficient means of distribution direct to the people, at a tax not to exceed two per cent. per annum, to be provided as set forth in the sub-treasury plan of the Farmers' Alliance, or a better system; also by payments in discharge of its obligations for public improvements.

1. We demand free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1.

2. We demand that the amount of circulating medium be speedily increased to not less than $50 per capita.

3. We demand a graduated income tax.

4. We believe that the money of the country should be kept as much as possible in the hands of the people, and hence we demand that all State and national revenues shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the Government, economically and honestly administered.

5. We demand that postal savings banks be established by the Government for the safe deposit of the earnings of the people and to facilitate exchange.

Transportation.—Transportation being a means of exchange and a public necessity, the Government should own and operate the railroads in the interest of the people. The telegraph, telephone, like the post-office system, being a necessity for the transmission of news, should be owned and operated by the Government in the interest of the people.

Land.—The land, including all the natural sources of wealth, is the heritage of the people and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes, and alien ownership of land should be prohibited. All land now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs, and all lands now owned by aliens, should be reclaimed by the Government and held for actual settlers only.

Your Committee on Platform and Resolutions beg leave unanimously to report the following:

Whereas, Other questions have been presented for our consideration, we hereby submit the following, not as a part of the Platform of the People's party, but as resolutions expressive of the sentiment of this Convention:

1. Resolved, That we demand a free ballot and a fair count in all elections, and pledge ourselves to secure it to every legal voter without Federal intervention, through the adoption by the States of the unperverted Australian or secret ballot system.

2. Resolved, That the revenue derived from a graduated income tax should be applied to the reduction of the burden of taxation now levied upon the domestic industries of this country.

3. Resolved, That we pledge our support to fair and liberal pensions to ex-Union soldiers and sailors.

4. Resolved, That we condemn the fallacy of protecting American labor under the present system, which opens our ports to the pauper and criminal classes of the world and crowds out our wage-earners; and we denounce the present ineffective laws against contract labor, and demand the further restriction of undesirable immigration.

5. Resolved, That we cordially sympathize with the efforts of organized workingmen to shorten the hours of labor, and demand a rigid enforcement of the existing eight-hour law on government work, and ask that a penalty clause be added to the said law.

6. Resolved, That we regard the maintenance of a large standing army of mercenaries, known as the Pinkerton system, as a menance to our liberties, and we demand its abolition; and we condemn the recent invasion of the territory of Wyoming by the hired assassins of Plutocracy, assisted by Federal officers.

7. Resolved, That we commend to the favorable consideration of the people and the reform press the legislative system known as the initiative and referendum.

8. Resolved, That we favor a constitutional provision limiting the office of President and Vice-President to one term, and providing for the election of Senators of the United States by a direct vote of the people.

9. Resolved, That we oppose any subsidy or national aid to any private corporation for any purpose.

Household Recipes.

White Sauces.—The chief secret in sauce-making lies in the foundation or thickening—roux as it is technically termed. This material is nothing more than an amalgam of flour and butter, thoroughly blended and cooked together; and it is not too much to say that on the careful preparation of this the excellence of a sauce mainly depends. It possesses the advantage of keeping, so that it can be prepared at the cook's leisure, and stored for future use. The ordinary proportions of flour and butter are two parts of the latter to three of the former, though for very rich sauces perhaps equal quantities are advisable. There are two kinds of roux: the roux blanc and the roux brun. The first naturally is used for white sauces, the latter for brown ones. The process is as follows: Put two ounces of butter in a delicately clean pan, and let it melt over a clear fire; when it has done so, mix in, gradually, three ounces of fine flour, stirring it all the time, till thoroughly blended and smooth. It can then be stored in a jam-pot and kept for several days. The mixture, which should be quite white, is roux blanc. For the dark kind let the flour and butter cook together as before, till it colors nicely, but without burning. If it burns it is ruined. This is the roux brun. If to the above quantities of flour and butter when amalgamated, yet not colored, you add half a pint of boiling water, stirring it carefully, and letting it just come to the boil (but no further), you will have melted butter. If again you use good white stock instead of water to make the sauce, it becomes what was formerly known as sauce tournée, the foundation for most properly-made white sauces. For use by itself, when it is generally nowadays called velouté or velvety, it is brought to a good color by a generous allowance of rich cream or new milk, say a quarter pint to each half pint of stock used. This sauce is made more or less thick according to the length of time you boil, and consequently reduce it. If to this velouté you add a thickening of two or more egg yelks and a delicate seasoning of white pepper and salt, it becomes allemande sauce—useful for fricassées, blanquettes, etc.; if you add one part of good white stock to two parts of this sauce tournée, and let it reduce with two or three spoonfuls of finely minced and well-washed mushrooms, it becomes Italian sauce; and if to this Italian sauce you add the two egg yelks, or liaison, some very finely chopped parsley, the strained juice of a small lemon, and a seasoning of salt and cayenne, it becomes Pascaline, a very delicate sauce for boiled fowl. The most delicate sauce of all, suprème, is made with two parts sauce tournée (made of chicken stock only) and one part cream, very delicately seasoned with white pepper and salt. For all these white sauces any good white stock can be used, except for the suprème, for which, strictly speaking, chicken stock only may be taken; but it must be remembered that stock for this purpose must be carefully flavored with onion (green onions are most delicate), mushrooms, a bouquet, and above all a slice or two of lean ham, for it is to the stock that all the flavor of these delicate sauces is due. It may seem as if all the above were as much alike in taste as they are in appearance, but as a matter of fact an educated palate would discriminate unerringly between them, and even an uneducated one would recognize the difference, though, very probably, without realizing the cause of it.—London Queen.

Jumbles.—These are made in a variety of ways and under many distinctive names. California Jumbles: Beat together one-half pound of butter and caster sugar respectively, add some grated lemon peel, a little white wine, and the beaten whites of two eggs; work all this with about three-quarters of a pound of flour, mould the jumbles to a roll the size of the little finger and about five inches long, twist up the ends, bake them in a buttered pan, and leave room for them to spread as they experience the heat. Lemon Jumbles: Mix into a stiff paste one egg, one teacupful of sugar, half a teacupful of butter, three teaspoonfuls of milk, one of cream of tartar, half a teaspoonful of soda, the juice of two small lemons, and the grated rind of one; when the dough is ready roll it out rather thin, cut into shapes, bake in a quick oven, having previously sifted sugar over them, or not, as desired. Almond Jumbles: Beat one-quarter of a pound of butter to a cream, stir in one pound of sifted sugar, add the beaten yelks of five eggs, one teacupful of loppered milk, one-half pound of sifted flour, two tablespoonfuls of rosewater, three-quarters of a pound of blanched almonds, chopped or grated cocoanut, and lastly the whipped whites. Stir all the time these ingredients are being thrown in, and do the whole operation of making as quickly and lightly as possible. Drop this mixture in rings or flat cakes upon buttered paper, and bake at once. Ring Jumbles: Beat one breakfastcupful of butter to a cream with one of sugar, add half a cupful of sour cream, one egg, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in hot water, grated nutmeg to taste, and enough sifted dry flour to mix into a light, soft dough. Line the baking-pan with buttered paper, drop the dough with a tablespoon, forming it into rings; bake quickly in a brisk oven, and sift sugar over them when done. Any favorite flavor can be used instead of the rosewater. An old-fashioned recipe: Beat thoroughly the whites of three eggs, take off the froth, work into the eggs some milk, nearly one pound of flour, as much sifted sugar, a few pounded carraway seeds; work this into a very stiff paste, roll it out, cut into any desired shape, and bake on buttered paper.

Brandy Wafers.—One-half pound of butter, one-half pound of brown sugar, one-half pound of flour, one pint of New Orleans molasses. Drop half a dozen tablespoonfuls into a large sheet-iron baking pan and put in a hot oven to bake. When you open the oven door to see if they are almost done, you will start back in dismay to find the batter has melted into a boiling, bubbling mass, like molasses candy. Don't be discouraged; wait until the edges are brown, then set the pan out to cool. Have ready a clean round clothes-stick—an old broom-handle scrubbed clean will answer very well—placed over the backs of two chairs. Before the batter is quite cool, cut in squares and hang on the stick; when cold they will be curly and crisp—delicious indeed!

Desiccated Vegetables.—This mode of preserving is an excellent one, especially for those who live in the country and have a quantity of vegetables to dispose of. Moreover, desiccation is the best way of reproducing later on the freshness of each variety; they keep their color, taste and crispness, and are not very troublesome to prepare. For this purpose the first part of the process varies according to the nature of the vegetables, which may be divided into two classes, viz., the foliaceous and tubercular, and the farinaceous. Foliaceous, &c. (preliminary treatment): Endive, spinach, parsley, sorrel, chervil, etc., are picked, washed and scalded in boiling water for five minutes. Cabbages and cauliflowers must be trimmed, washed, and parboiled in water slightly salted. Carrots, turnips, and potatoes, having been peeled and shredded with the knife for that purpose, or any slicing machine, to be parboiled as above in slightly salted water, only rather longer naturally; and the same process is applied to Brussels sprouts and asparagus heads, boiled whole. Artichokes are also half boiled, then immediately transferred to cold water, strained and trimmed. It is usual to strip all the leaves off and to dry the bottom only. As concerns the farinaceous vegetables, viz., broad beans, French haricots, flageolets, and peas, are treated the same as the carrots, etc., above mentioned. The peas should be almost the last of the season, though young spring peas can also be stored; these should have grown in dry soil. Broad beans, haricots and flageolets should not be quite ripe. To parboil this class, do not throw them into the saucepan, but put them into a wicker basket; they keep together, and do not get bruised. When taken out, put them in cold water (still in the basket), then strain and dry them by spreading them carefully on a dry cloth. Now the vegetables should be spread on canvas roughly stretched on wooden frames, which must be made to fit the oven; several of these "trays" can go in at the same time, superposed with some little wedge to keep them a couple of inches apart. The oven must not be very hot, and yet the desiccation must take place rapidly to avoid the fermentation, etc., which is so easily produced by slow drying. The best way to succeed is to pick, prepare, and dry all on the same day; of course, if not sufficiently desiccated at night, they can be left in till the morning. Stir the contents of the frames, to keep each strip of vegetables as separate as possible. Finally, these well-dried articles must be stored in a suitable manner, either in clean, dry, glass jars, with thoroughly well-fitting corks of the best quality, or in tins with patent hermetically closing lids, such as are sold now for various purposes, or again in the handy cardboard boxes made expressly to this end. These could no doubt be ordered from abroad through any good tradesman, and would prove a great boon to the housewife.

Wine Jelly.—There are not many housewives who fully understand how to make a good wine jelly. The best wines for such a purpose are those which are served cold or iced, at the same temperature at which jellies are commonly served. Port is utterly unfit for jelly, though it is a proper wine to serve in hot soup or in hot stews. For the same reason Madeira is not suitable, though often recommended for jelly. Sherry and champagne, which are properly served in a chilled condition, are the most suitable wines we have for this purpose. To make a quart of sherry jelly, soak two-thirds of a package of English gelatine for two hours in a cup of cold water, with the grated rind of one lemon and a stick of cinnamon. At the end of this time add the juice of two lemons, a pound of loaf sugar and a pint of boiling water. Stir the mixture over the fire for two or three minutes until the gelatine seems thoroughly melted. Let it cool a little. Add the shells and whites of two eggs to clarify it, and bring it to the boiling point slowly. A thick froth will rise to the top. Skim this off carefully and pour the jelly through a felt jelly-bag suspended between two kitchen chairs or from a regular frame. If you have no jelly-bags, such as are for sale in stores for the confectioner's supplies, make a cornucopia-shaped bag of thick flannel for this purpose. In this case the seam at the side must be felled. The bags which are purchased in the shops are seamless. When the jelly is strained, add half a pint of good sherry and a tablespoonful of brandy. Champagne jelly is made in exactly the same way, omitting the brandy. Wine jelly is an excellent accompaniment of Bavarian creams and many other desserts. The addition of a pint of preserved apricots or of preserved peaches to a pint of sherry jelly makes a very excellent dessert.

Italian Fritters.—This term is so vague that it is almost impossible to give a satisfactory answer to the question. In Italy the friture as an entrée, or in some form, is indispensable to every dinner. The ingredients are immensely varied. Liver, brains, all manner of seashore productions (called frutti di mare), mussels, oysters, artichokes, mushrooms, hard-boiled yelks of eggs—in short, every possible thing—can be brought into requisition. It is fried in oil or batter. That constitutes the Italian fritter. If a particular recipe is desired, it should be asked for by name. Here is a sweet fritter used in Rome during Lent: Boil about one pound, or rather less, of semolina in water, with a pinch of salt and a handful of caster sugar. When it assumes the consistency of paste, draw the saucepan off the fire and stir in a generous half pint of spirit. Spread this mixture on a board or marble slab, sprinkled with olive oil; work it with the hands, dropping oil all the time till almost half pint has been thoroughly incorporated and the paste is creamy and smooth. Let it become quite cold, divide it into lumps, roll them to the thickness of a finger, cut them into lengths of four or five inches, twist them into rings or bows, joining the ends by pressing them well together. Fry in hot fresh oil, drain, and partially dry them on a cloth, roll them lightly in caster sugar, and serve.

Jam Omelet.—A jam omelet is a dainty dish which is easily and quickly prepared. Make the omelet precisely as you would an ordinary omelet for breakfast. For one of four eggs, warm two tablespoonfuls of jam, lay it in the omelet just before it is ready to fold, and then fold it over, completely inclosing the jam, and serve it at once. An omelet for breakfast with half a dozen oysters stewed in white sauce served in it, or two or three tablespoonfuls of chicken, minced and curried, makes a delightful change. Such savory dishes as these may be made from a small quantity of material left over from a previous meal, and they add appreciably to the daintiness of the breakfast table.

Goose and Turkey Pie.—Take a green goose and a turkey of as nearly equal size as is possible. Put both into a braizing pan with a large sliced carrot, half a head of celery, a bunch of savory herbs, an onion stuck with six cloves, a sprig of parsley, a blade of mace, half a dozen peppercorns, and as much stock or water as will barely cover the goose. Let them braize slowly, skim off the fat, and boil it down until considerably reduced. Now, cut the goose and turkey into moderately small pieces, and put them into a good raised crust, or into a pie-dish with a short crust in the ordinary way, with a good sized piece of butter in the dish. Time to bake, two hours. This pie may be served cold for supper. Some people prefer a goose or turkey pudding to a pie. The pudding is made by pouring as much boiling milk over a pound of stale bread as will cover it. Soak until soft, and beat with a fork, add six ounces beef suet, four large onions, boiled and chopped, a dessertspoonful of powdered sage, a dessertspoonful of oatmeal, three well-beaten eggs, and seasoning to taste. Spread the mixture in a buttered tin, three-quarters of an inch in thickness. Put it in an oven for half an hour, then place it under the goose or turkey before the fire, letting the gravy drip on to it. Brown well in every part. Cut it in square slices, and serve with the bird. Time, one hour and a half.

Scotch Brose.—A Scotch brose is a time-honored dish. It calls for three cups of the liquor in which a leg of mutton or a piece of beef has been boiled, or the same amount of stock, a cup of oatmeal, and an even teaspoonful of salt in case the stock has not been salted. Let the oatmeal cook steadily in an earthen pipkin in the broth for one hour, and serve. Oatmeal, when served in this way for breakfast, may be cooked the night before and steamed in the morning. Almost any grain, such as rice, hominy or barley, is excellent cooked in stock in this manner, especially when it is served with a dish of meat, and not as a breakfast porridge with milk.

French Apple Fritters.—Peel three large apples, core them with an apple-corer, and cut them across in slices rather less than half an inch thick; put them in a flat dish with half a tumbler of strong cider, and strew them plentifully with powdered loaf sugar; let them remain covered a couple of hours, then take each piece separately, dip it into batter so that it is well covered with it, and fry a golden color in plenty of hot lard. Lay the fritters in front of the fire, and when all are done pile them up on a napkin, shake plenty of powdered loaf sugar over them, and serve.

Grape Wine.—To one quart of juice add two quarts of water and one pound of sugar; mix well together, and let it stand twenty-four hours without stirring; then skim it, putting it into a jug or cask, leaving out the cork, and let it ferment in a cool place for a week, or until done fermenting; then cork tightly, and when clear it is fit to bottle.

Little Pigs in Blankets.—Take as many large oysters as are wished, wash and dry them thoroughly with a clean towel; have some fat bacon cut in very thin slices, cover each oyster with them, and pin on with wooden toothpicks. Broil or roast them until the bacon is crisp and brown. Do not remove toothpicks. Serve hot.

Salted Almonds.

Salted almonds remain a popular confection. While upon the subject, it is well to recall the fact that there are many varieties of almond. The paper-shell is the most expensive, selling at from forty to forty-five cents a pound, but it is not by any means the best-flavored nut of this species. From the very thinness of its shell it is apt to be dry and hard. It is only valuable when served on the table with raisins in the old-time way. For all other purposes the hard-shell Jordan almond, which retails at twenty-five cents a pound in the shell and sixty cents a pound without the shell, is far better. To prepare salted almonds for the table, blanch them by throwing boiling water over them, and then, after they have stood two minutes, putting them in cold water and rubbing the brown skin off with the hand or a rough little cloth. When the almonds are all blanched and dried with a cloth, measure them. Sprinkle a tablespoonful of olive oil over every cupful of nuts. Let them stand two hours. Sprinkle a tablespoonful of salt over each cupful, mixing it in thoroughly with a spoon. Spread them out on a bright tin biscuit pan and place them in a quick oven, where they will turn a delicate brown and become crisp and tender in from ten to fifteen minutes. They should be stirred every five minutes. They should be served on the daintiest little silver openwork dish that you possess, or on a pretty bonbon dish of rare porcelain. They take a place on the table as an ornamental hors d'œuvre, and remain from the beginning of the meal till the end. —New York Tribune.

Don't Sleep in Linen.

The world, or this part of it at least, is full of housekeepers who think that there is no material for sheets and pillow-cases comparable to linen.

They don't always have it, to be sure, because it is expensive; but they always covet it, and finger the shining breadths lovingly, and wonder if the time will ever come when all these things shall be added unto them.

But the truth about linen is, that it isn't the ideal dressing for beds at all. It is cold and slippery, and insures a sensitive person the dream of sleeping on an iceberg, which does well enough for an occasional experience like sea-sickness, but which palls on too frequent repetition. Besides that, it wrinkles and tumbles in spite of its heavier body, much more than cotton does, giving a bed after one night's use a most slovenly and uninviting appearance.

Nobody recommends linen for body wear. Its firm texture and hard surface make it wholly non-absorbent; it allows the body to become chilled by refusing the perspiration, and so has been known to bring on serious illness. For outside wear in summer, linen may be tolerated as clothing, but nowhere else.

Where, however, it is at its usefullest and best is in household uses. For table service, for the toilet, and for minor ornamental details, it is simply invaluable. Its smoothness of texture, its brilliancy (which laundering even increases), its exquisite freshness, make it the one fabric fit to drape the dining-table, and to use in the toilet, while its suitability for needlework decoration makes it admirable for all kinds of fancy work. And here it is rightfully used; but to wear next the skin and sleep in—no.

The steer is being fed and developed on Mr. Singerly's farm at Gwynedd, Pa., under the superintendence of Mr. Jason Sexton. It is expected that Jumbo's weight will by spring have reached 4000 pounds. Jumbo is in his seventh year, and was calved in Michigan. He is 12 feet long from head to rump. Holstein and Durham blood flows through his veins.

The greatest winning three-year old was Hanover, by Hindoo. He won twenty races and $89,827.

Miss Woodford, br. m., foaled 1880, by imported Billet, dam Fanny Jane, by Neil Robinson, won more money than any animal that ever ran on the American turf, winning in five years forty-eight races, worth $118,970.

In 1886 the stable of Dwyer Brothers won $208,549.16 in purses and stakes—more money than was ever won by any other single racing establishment in America.

The greatest sale of thoroughbreds ever held was that of the late August Belmont's Nursery Stud collection, $641,500 being realized on 131 head, as follows: $123,600 for 28 horses in training, sold Dec. 27, 1890; $203,525 for 48 brood mares; $72,325 for 27 weanlings; $124,550 for 24 yearlings; $117,500 for four stallions. Sold at New York, Oct. 16 and 17, 1891. St. Blaise brought $100,000.

The sale of the late Lord Falmouth's stud in England, held likewise in two divisions, April 28 and July 1, 1884, realized 111,880 guineas, or about $559,400 for 79 head. The horses in training fetched 36,440 guineas, and the breeding stock, including stallions, brood mares, sucklings and yearlings, brought 75,440 guineas.

Twenty-six thoroughbreds, including nineteen horses in training, comprising the Ehret stable, winners of $157,789 in stakes and purses in 1892, and seven yearlings, also owned by Frank Ehret, sold at auction for $223,250, at New York, Nov. 12, 1892, giving an average of $8587 per head. The seven yearlings brought $52,500 and the nineteen horses in training $170,225. The 2-year-old colt Don Alonzo brought $30,000, the top figure.

In 1886, P. Lorillard sold 27 head of horses in training for $149,050, the highest price being $29,000 for the filly Dewdrop, and the lowest $300.

The Kentucky-bred horse Abbotsford, formerly Mistake, is the only horse that has ever won races in England, France and America.

Five horses have earned "triple honors" in England by winning the Two Thousand Guineas, the Derby and the St. Leger, as follows: 1853, West Australian; 1865, Gladiateur; 1866, Lord Lyon; 1886, Ormonde; 1891, Common. Common was the thirteenth winner of the Two Thousand that also won the Derby.

King Thomas, by King Ban, was the highest priced yearling ever sold at auction, L. O. Appleby paying $38,000 for him at the Haggin sale in New York, June 25, 1888. The following day Mr. Appleby sold the colt to Senator Hearst, of California, for $40,000. A chestnut colt, by St. Blaise—Lady Primrose, brought $30,000 at the Nursery Stud sale, New York, October 17, 1891, Jacob Ruppert being the purchaser.

The highest price ever paid for a yearling in England was $32,000 for Childwick, by St. Simon, dam Plaisanterie, purchased by Blundell Maple in 1891. Mr. Maple also purchased Common, by Isonomy, for $75,000, the highest price ever paid for a three-year old thoroughbred.

Highest price ever paid for a horse, $150,000, for Ormonde, b. s., by Bend Or, dam Lilly Agnes; purchased by William O'B. MacDonough, of San Francisco, Cal., from Senor Bocau, of Buenos Ayres, South America, October, 1892.

Highest price ever paid for a trotter, $125,000, for Arion, bay colt, two-year-old trotting record 2.10¾, by Electioneer, dam Manette, by Nutwood; purchased by J. Malcolm Forbes, of Boston, from Leland Stanford, Palo Alto Stock Farm, California, 1892.

EVOLUTION OF BASEBALL.

Baseball was played without much regard to rule previous to 1857. From that year to the close of the season of 1875 the laws of the National Association governed. In 1871 the first regular championship schedule was played. In 1876 the National League was organized, and in 1881 a rival was born in the American Association. The Union Association was organized in 1884 ostensibly in opposition to the working of the reserve rule in the National League and American Association. It lasted but one season, the St. Louis Club winning the pennant.

In the fall of 1889 the Players' National League was organized as the outcome of the Brotherhood of Baseball Players. It proved a financial failure. The Boston Club won the pennant with a percentage of .628. Brooklyn was second, and then followed New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Cleveland and Buffalo in the order named. The gate receipts did not pay salaries, and the capitalists were obliged to go deep down into their pockets to satisfy the players. A joint meeting between representatives of the National League, Players' League and American Association, at the close of the season of 1890, resulted in a compromise. It was plain that New York, Brooklyn, Pittsburg and Cleveland would not support two clubs, and the Players' League clubs of those cities were consolidated with the National League clubs by means of deals or purchases, while the Chicago Players' club was bought out. The Boston and Philadelphia Players' clubs joined the American Association. A new national agreement between the clubs of the National League, American Association and Western Association was drawn up and signed, only to be broken a few days later by the American Association because of the action of the National Board in awarding the services of star Association players to League clubs. The Association went through the season of 1891 on an independent basis. This resulted in increasing salaries of ball players, there being sharp competition for the services of the star players.

A twelve-club organization, styled the National League and American Association of Baseball Clubs, was organized at Indianapolis, Dec. 15, 1891. It included the best baseball cities of the country, and virtually marked the burial of the American Association, which had been in existence since 1882. The result was not just what was expected, for financially the season of 1892 was very unsatisfactory. The divided season scheme was tried, but even that did not call out the people, and as a result many high-priced ball players were given the choice of release or accepting a cut in their salaries.
